

PORCH LINTELS

All units are supplied with cast-in threaded sockets designed to take lifting loops.

Units should be lifted using either a spreader beam or two legged brothers of sufficient length to provide a 30° angle.

A slip plane is required at the stone bearing ends. The support lintel over the stone should bear outside the stone and a soft joint provided to prevent any deflection imposing a load onto the stone.

